In the case of arbitration, the arbitrator will determine that sum.

THE PROCESS OF THERAPY/EVALUATION AND SCOPE OF PRACTICE:

Participation in therapy can result in a number of benefits to you, including improving interpersonal relationships and resolution of the specific concerns that led you to seek therapy. Working toward these benefits, however, requires effort on your part. Psychotherapy requires your very active involvement, honesty, and openness in order to change your thoughts, feelings and/or behavior. Ann J Clark, LCSW will ask for your feedback and views on your therapy, your progress, and other aspects of the therapy and will expect you to respond openly and honestly. Sometimes more than one approach can be helpful in dealing with a certain situation. During evaluation or therapy, remembering or talking about unpleasant events, feelings, or thoughts can result in you experiencing considerable discomfort or strong feelings of anger, sadness, worry, fear, etc, or experiencing anxiety, depression, insomnia, etc. Ann J Clark, LCSW may challenge some of your assumptions or perceptions or propose different ways of looking at, thinking about, or handling situations, which can cause you to feel very upset, angry, depressed, challenged or disappointed. Attempting to resolve issues that brought you to therapy in the first place, such as personal or interpersonal relationships may result in changes that were not originally intended. Psychotherapy may result in decisions about changing behaviors, employment, substance use, schooling, housing or relationships. Sometimes a decision that is positive for one family member is viewed quite negatively by another family member. Change will sometimes be easy and swift, but more often it will be slow and even frustrating. There is no guarantee that psychotherapy will yield positive or intended results. During the course of therapy, Ann J Clark, LCSW is likely to draw on various psychological approaches according, in part, to the problem that is being treated and his assessment of what will best benefit you. These approaches include, but are not limited to, behavioral, cognitive-behavioral, cognitive, psychodynamic, existential, system/family, developmental (adult, child, family), humanistic or psycho-educational. Ann J Clark, LCSW does not provide medication or prescription recommendation nor legal advice, as these activities do not fall within her scope of practice.

TREATMENT PLANS: Within a reasonable period of time after the initiation of treatment, Ann J Clark, LCSW will discuss with you (client) her working understanding of the problem, treatment plan, therapeutic objectives and her view of the possible outcomes of treatment. If you have any unanswered questions about any of the procedures used in the course of your therapy, their possible risks, Ann J Clark's expertise in employing them, or about the treatment plan, please ask and you will be answered fully. You also have the right to ask about other treatments for your condition and their risks and benefits.

TERMINATION: As set forth above, after the first couple of meetings, Ann J Clark, LCSW will assess if she can be of benefit to you. Ann J Clark, LCSW does not accept clients who, in her opinion, she cannot help. In such a case, she will give you a number of referrals who you can contact. If at any point during psychotherapy Ann J Clark, LCSW assesses that she is not effective in helping you reach the therapeutic goals or that you are non-compliant she is obligated to discuss it with you and, if appropriate, to terminate treatment. In such a case, she would give you a number of referrals that may be of help to you. If you request it and authorize it in writing, Ann J Clark, LCSW will talk to the psychotherapist of your choice in order to help with the transition. If at any time you want another professional's opinion or wish to consult with another therapist, Ann J Clark, LCSW will assist you with referrals, and if she has your written consent, she will provide her or him with the essential information needed. You have the right to terminate therapy at any time. If you choose to do so, if appropriate, Ann J Clark, LCSW will offer to provide you with names of other qualified professionals.

DUAL RELATIONSHIPS: Therapy never involves sexual or any other dual relationship that impairs Ann J Clark's objectivity, clinical judgment or can be exploitative in nature. Ann J Clark, LCSW will assess carefully before entering into non-sexual and non-exploitative dual relationships with clients. Sacramento is a small community and many clients know each other and Ann J Clark, LCSW from the community. Consequently you may bump into someone you know in the waiting room or into Ann J Clark out in the community. Ann J Clark will never acknowledge working with anyone without his/her written permission.

TREATMENT OF MINORS: If you are under eighteen years of age, please be aware that the law may give your parents or guardians the right to obtain information about your treatment and/or examine your treatment records. It is my policy to request an agreement from your parents or guardians indicating that they consent to give up access to such information and/or to your records. If they agree, Ann J Clark will provide them only with general information about our work together subject to your approval, or, if she feels it is important for them to know in order to make sure that you and people around you are safe. If she thinks it is appropriate, she will involve them if she feels that there is a high risk that you will seriously harm yourself or another/others. Before giving them any verbal or written information, she will discuss the matter with you, if possible. She will do the best she can to resolve any differences that you and she may have about what she is prepared to discuss.

GROUP THERAPY: In group therapy, it is of utmost important that all members maintain confidentiality and neither disclose the content of sessions nor the identity of fellow group members. It is highly recommended that any meaningful exchange outside the group also be discussed in the group. In group therapy, the other members of the group are not therapists. They are not regulated by the same ethics and laws that outlined earlier in this document. While the expectation is that all group members will maintain confidentiality, you cannot be certain that they will always keep what you say in the group confidential. You are ultimately responsible for what you say and what you think, feel, or do with the feedback you receive in the group.

SOCIAL NETWORKING AND INTERNET SEARCHES: Ann J Clark, LCSW does not accept friend requests from current or former clients on social networking sites, such as Facebook. She believes that adding clients as friends on these sites and/or communicating via such sites is likely to compromise your privacy and confidentiality. For the same reason, she requests that clients do not communicate with her via any interactive or social networking web sites.

CANCELLATION: Since the scheduling of an appointment involves the reservation of time specifically for you, a minimum of 24 hours notice is required for re-scheduling or canceling an appointment. Unless a different agreement is reached, the full fee will be charged for sessions missed without such notification . Most insurance companies do not reimburse for missed sessions.
